THE "CITY OF SIN."

The Origin of the Expression Attributed to Deacon Parkinson.

"So the Reno GAZETTE alludes to Virginia as the 'City of Sin,'" mused Colonel John T. Brady last evening. "If I were you newspaper folks I'd set Deacon Parkinson of the Carson Tribune after 'em; the Deacon has a patent on the expression and I helped him to secure the copy right. There never was a more outrageous infringement of patent. You remember how the Deacon came to christen us that way? No? Well, it was nip and tuck between Carson and Virginia some years ago, when times were lively, as to which place was entitled to the belt for crimes and naughtiness. For every man the Comstock had for breakfast Carson would show up two cases of what we generously call 'social scandal'—some man getting out of some other man's back window, in the dead of night, half-dressed; an elopement; several mysterious shots fired to protect a fleeing male, and all that kind of thing. Well, the Deacon, like a true journalist, sought to protect the good name of his town, and becoming so exasperated over the fact that Carson was scoring two points to Virginia's one, set up a 'stop-thief' cry by howling about the Comstock's vice, and for years the never-ending war of Virginia in his paper except as the 'City of Sin.' It has stuck to us ever since, but I think we are a little compared with the Carson folks."—Enterprise.

Crushed to Death.

Last Saturday afternoon near the Belmont lumber mill, above Cleo, California, Patrick Phelan, one of the employees, met with a fatal accident. Phelan was one of the logging crew, and while hunching logs was caught between two of them. Both legs were crushed and some of the ribs were broken. The wounded man lived about two hours.

MISS LETITIA ALDRICH

Scores a Dramatic Success in Washington.

A press dispatch from Washington, dated the 23d instant, gives an account of an amateur performance of "Pygmalion and Galatea," in which Letitia Aldrich, a niece of Senator and Mrs. Stewart, well-known in Carson, carried off the honors of the evening. It says:

An amateur performance of "Pygmalion and Galatea," for sweet Charity's sake, was given this afternoon at the National Theater before a large audience composed of the most prominent society people of Washington. The cast included among others, George Hazelton, Miss Letitia Aldrich of California, a niece of Senator and Mrs. Stewart; Miss Butterfield of California, who is staying here with Mrs. Hazen; and Miss Mary Butterworth, daughter of Congressman Butterworth of Ohio. The play was a success in every particular and had none of those tiresome hitches which usually mar amateur performances.

Miss Aldrich made a charming impression and was frequently and warmly applauded. In the statue scene she looked surpassingly beautiful, and she portrayed the various phases of the character with such pathetic fidelity and graceful finish that she won the audience almost from her first words. She has a full, musical voice, which she has already learned to use with good effect, and has been engaged by Mr. Palmer of New York to play in his company next season. She was the recipient of many floral tributes during the performance. Mrs. Cleveland was present and looked especially girlish in a walking-dress of steel gray velvet, with Spanish jacket over a white silk vest. The Misses Byard, daughters of the Secretary of State, accompanied her. Mrs. Cleveland applauded the longest of all, when on the fall of the curtain the grateful players were again summoned for further applause. Senator and Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Aldrich, mother of Miss Aldrich, and Mrs. Hooker were in a box. The Californians here turned out in full force in honor of Miss Aldrich's appearance. Mrs. Senator Stanford purchased $100 worth of tickets which she presented to friends.

THE WATER QUESTION.

The Farmers of Lovelock Will Protect Their Rights.

A Lovelock correspondent of the Silver State, under date of the 23d instant, says: "It is stated here that detectives employed by Big Meadows farmers report a great quantity of water in the vicinity of Beowawe, where the river is dammed, while the farmers on the meadows here, who have the right, are left high and dry. A meeting will be held to-day, which will be attended by some of the ablest lawyers in the State, to determine what course to pursue. It is hinted that suits will be brought for over $500,000 damages and a perpetual injunction against the parties who, it is alleged, are wasting the water. Every drop of water in the State should be put to good use, and no doubt the courts will sustain the farmers of this place in their suit against the trespassers. The outlook for crops this season is gloomy."

A Brakeman's Frightful Death.

J. F. Brown, for about ten years a switchman and brakeman in the employ of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, was killed Wednesday on the C. P., the other side of Cleo, by striking his head against the roof of the snowshed. The top of his head was knocked off. Mr. Brown formerly worked with A. N. Lowe when the latter was a conductor. He leaves three orphan children. His wife died about a year ago.

By the Grapevine Wire.

A special dispatch from Virginia City to the Revelle on the day of the Democratic Convention says: "When Cassidy stepped on the platform to respond to his name the utmost enthusiasm prevailed. The Revelle correspondent must have drawn heavily on his imagination for at the time the convention was held in Virginia City Mr. Cassidy was in Denver, Colorado."

Kind-Hearted Uncle Jimmy.

James G. Fair had his old sorrel horse taken from the Woodworth mill property, on the Carson river, to one of his California ranch properties last Saturday, in a special car. The animal is now 28 years old, and unfit for use, but the Senator has willed to see him end his days in clover.

Easy to Prove.

A firm determination seems to exist among old miners to thoroughly prospect the hills surrounding Eagle Valley and prove to old Carsonites that if not dead, they have been sleeping for many years. —Carson Tribune.

Piano-Tuning.

Jacob Zech, the well-known piano-tuner, is in town. Anyone desirous of securing his services will please leave order at Herz's jewelry store, Virginia street.

Easy and pleasant to use. Follow directions and a cure is warranted by all druggists. Send for circular to Abeline Medical Company, Oroville, Cal. Six months' treatment for $1; sent by mail, $1.10. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

Fryer's Abietene Ointment—A combination of the most potent, Vaseline and other healing agents. The best healing and purifying remedy in the world for all skin diseases, including eruptions of the skin. Price, 25 cents. Sold by W. Pinniger. All genuine Abietene ointments bear the fac-simile signature of D. F. Fryer.

BREVITIES.

Local and General Intelligence.

All trains reported on time to-night. A Plute fandango begins at Wadsworth to-day.

There are about forty tourists now at Lake Tahoe.

Modoc county, California, has a population of 7,000.

Remember the grand calico ball at Amory Hall this evening.

The street-sprinkling man has evidently formed a copartnership with old Plutus.

Weather prediction for to-morrow: Local rains, followed by fair weather; slightly warmer.

Mrs. A. C. Bragg of Long Valley is in town, and in the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Fulton.

Patrick Scott was assessed $10 to-day by Justice Borman for being drunk and disturbing the peace.

B. Reconnone, the well-known stockman of Paradise valley, is reported ill with the spotted fever.

Miles Finlen, the slayer of David Payne, will be defended by Pat Reddy of California and R. H. Lindsay of Reno.

Arty Egbert, a sixteen-year-old youth of Lovelock, was dragged to death by a runaway horse on the 23d instant.

M. T. Coats, the veteran miller of Paradise valley, is now head miller at the Silver State Mills, vice M. E. Yost, resigned.

William Keyes, who killed John Payton at Boca recently, has entered a plea of not guilty and will be tried on the 19th prox.

A puzzle fiend submits the following: "If 100 cats kill 100 rats in 100 minutes, how many rats will 50 cats kill in 50 minutes?"

A fourteen-year-old boy named Claude Stephenson committed suicide near Cedarville, Modoc county, California, one day last week.

Justice Young returned this morning from his journey to San Francisco and to-morrow will again dispense justice in his temple on Virginia street.

If you want anything in the electrical line read the advertisement of the Nevada Electrical Construction Company which appears in this issue.

It is reported that W. D. C. Gibson, agent of the Pyramid Indian Agency, has resigned, and that Joe Gregory of Wadsworth has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

Next week the Pacific Lumber & Wood Company will commence the erection of a new saw mill at Camp 18, to take the place of the one recently destroyed by fire.

"I don't see why I can't get ahead," growled a clerk in a retail store.

"Why don't you try a few horis of 'apple-jack'?" suggested the head salesman, who lives in New Jersey.

Maude (gleefully)—I had five offers of marriage last week. B-ritha (dismally)—I don't see how you can have so many offers if you don't keep them at school until they become grown up.

The California delegates to the Democratic National Convention, which was in St. Louis, will pass through Reno to-day and will be in camp at The Nevada delegates will join the party to-morrow.

Another very long-felt want has been filled in the West by the introduction of a new contribution basket with a bell attached. The bell rings whenever a button or poker chip is contributed.

Mrs. Carpenter, the aged mother of Mark W. Hayward, Mrs. W. A. Sperry, and Mrs. Robert Burke, died recently of heart disease at the residence of Mr. Robert Burke in Paradise Valley on last Monday morning.

Cora, the twelve-year-old daughter of T. T. Harris, formerly of Elko but now residing at Elko, swallowed a ten-dollar gold piece on the 23d inst. So far no unpleasant consequences have resulted from the mishap.

The San Francisco Board of Fire Underwriters have offered a reward of $500, for information which will lead to the arrest and conviction of the party or parties who set fire to the Burkhalter mill, near Truckee, recently.

The Twilight Minstrels will appear in Truckee to-morrow night. It is a first-class amateur company, and will doubtless be well received by the Truckeese. The boys will leave early in the morning by private conveyance.

Parties in from Surprise valley, California, report that section in great need of rain. If the late storm reached that point an average grain crop will be harvested, but it will be too late to insure a lay crop. The ranges are dry and parched, and stockmen look forward to the coming winter with apprehension.

Henry Merrifield and N. Messier, Surprise valley, California, have 175 head of beef cattle feeding in Clover valley, Plumas county, which they are holding for better prices. Most of them will draw over $50 pounds, and is the only lot of beef cattle in that section which has escaped the attention of buyers.

All the soldier lads, whether their principal business in times gone by has been fighting for their country or for their country's enemies, are now pulling on one string and with a single purpose in view, and that is to make the Memorial Day celebration on next Wednesday evening worthy of remembrance.

Grand Lodge, K. of P.

The Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Nevada, having completed its labors, adjourned this morning. The next session will be held in Virginia City in June, 1899.

The session was mostly occupied in hearing the reports of officers and committees, as there was but little legislation to attend to, the laws and rules of the Order being as nearly perfect as possible. The following Grand Officers were elected to serve for the ensuing term: W. W. Rogers of Elko, G. C. John E. Bray of Virginia, G. V. C. Benjamin Currier of Hawthorne, G. P. N. W. Ruff of Reno, G. M. E. Geo. H. Mosher of Reno, G. M. A. J. D. Schwartz of Virginia, G. I. G. Wm. Gilbert of Gold Hill, G. O. G.

Reno for Rio Bonito.

Am willing to trade Rio Bonito lands in Butte county, California, for two or three town lots, or for a house and lot in Reno. It is believed that Rio Bonito property will increase in value 100 per cent within two years. There are no richer lands in the world than the Feather River bottom lands, good for oranges, lemons, peaches, apricots and other fruits without irrigation. This is an excellent opportunity for speculation, or to get a home in one of the best spots in California. Will be in Reno for a few days, and will be pleased to meet all those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity.

THE BARBER'S VENDETTA.

The Charge Against Mead Dismissed—A Solomon-like Conclusion.

The barber's vendetta came to an inglorious termination, so far as the public's appetite for the inside history of the war is concerned, by the dismissal by Justice Borman this morning of the charge of assault with intent to kill, preferred against H. L. Mead by W. J. Lynch. The Justice stated that he had come to the conclusion that no case could be made against the accused, as he was the assaulted party, and he was also of the opinion that "when a man is assaulted he has a perfect right to defend himself, and, if necessary, is justified in killing his assailant." With out casting any reflection on the ability of the Verdi law-expounder to properly construe the law, it may be said, parenthetically, that many of our ablest jurists do not concur in the Judicial Logberry's opinion. Consequently, Mr. Mead walked out of court a free man, and shortly after Mr. Lynch was summoned to appear and show cause why he should not be punished for disturbing the peace, the complaint being filed by Kincaid, the individual who was with Mead when the fracas occurred. Mr. Lynch was, however, also discharged on motion of the District Attorney, who was of the opinion that as Justice Borman had seen fit to discharge Mead, who was charged with a more serious crime, it would be unjust to punish Lynch. This Solomon-like conclusion did not meet with the approbation of the Justice, who had evidently pre-judged the case, but he had no other alternative but to enter the order of dismissal. This was done, and Peace, for the time being at least, has once more spread her white wings over barber's row on Virginia street.

THE LESSONS OF "UNSER FRITZ" CASE.

The greatest doctors in Europe don't seem to know what ails "Unser Fritz."

Thus are the Garfield and Grant episodes repeated, and public confidence in "Unser Fritz" medical knowledge is again shaken.

The effect is a revolution. Since the fatal days of 1883, many of the doctrines of the schoolmen concerning extensive medication have been abandoned, and all schools of practice are more and more relying upon the old-fashioned simple root and herb preparations and careful nursing—the only reliance known to our ancestors.

These methods and reliance are illustrated to-day in a series of old-fashioned roots and herbs preparations recently given to the world by the well-known proprietors.

Warner's safe cure—preparations made from formulae possessed by many of our oldest families, and rescued for popular use, and issued under the happy designation of Warner's Log Cabin Remedies.

"My son," exclaimed a venerable woman to the writer when he was a boy, "my son, you're yellor and pale and weak like lookin'. you'll needin' a good shaking up with some sarsaparilla."

A jug of spring sarsaparilla was just as necessary in the "winter supplies" of fifty years ago as was a barrel of pork, and a famous medical authority says that the very general prevalence of the use of such a preparation as Log Cabin Sarsaparilla explains the rugged health of our ancestors.

While Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla is an excellent remedy for all seasons of the year, it is particularly valuable in the spring, when the system is full of sluggish blood, and requires a natural constitutional tonic and invigorator to resist colds and pneumonia, and the effects of a long winter. Philo M. Parsons, clerk of the City Hotel of Hartford, Conn., was prostrated with a cold which, he says, "seemed to settle through my body. I neglected it and the result was my blood became impoverished and poisoned, indicated by inflamed eyes. I was treated but my eyes grew worse. I was obliged to wear a shade over them. I feared that I would be obliged to give up work."

"Under the operation of Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla and Liver Pills," he says, "The sore and inflamed eyes disappeared. My blood, I know, is in a healthier condition than it has been for years. I have a much better appetite. I shall take several more bottles for safety's sake. Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla is a great blood purifier and I most heartily recommend it."

A few bottles of Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla used in the family will save many a week of sickness and many a dollar of bills. Use no other. This is the oldest, most thoroughly tested, and the best, is put up in the largest sarsaparilla bottle on the market, containing 120 doses. There is no other preparation which names that can equal it. The name of its manufacturers is a guarantee of its superior worth.

While the great doctors wrangle over the technicalities of an advanced medical science that can not cure disease, such simple preparations yearly snatch millions from untimely graves.

The Nevada Theater was crowded last evening to witness the representation of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" by the Bandman Company. It did not come up to expectations.

Fryer's Abietene Cough Balm—A positive cure for Lung, Chest and Throat Troubles. (Without Opium.) Price, 75 cents. Sold by W. Pinniger. All genuine Abietene p e p r e s e n t the fac-simile signature of D. F. Fryer.

In chronic diseases, medicines should be rest, and not debilitating, in their action. The wonderful air-cure and curative effect is realized from the use of Fryer's sarsaparilla, which is the most powerful blood purifier.

It Must Be That.

"Keeps very cold, doesn't it?" he queried, as he sat down beside an acquaintance on the masher bench in front of the Monarch.

"Very," was the brief reply. "Can you understand it?"

"Yes, sir."

"Oh, you can? What is it?"

"The weather."

And then a silence ensued which was painful. Finally both simultaneously arose, and sadly went inside to interview Sagebrush Bob.

A Rare Chance for Investment and a Home.

THE MOST LOVELY PORTION OF RENO.

FACING THE TRUCKEE—THE ARISTOCRATIC RIVERSIDE AVENUE DRIVEWAY—SPLENDID SEWERAGE—HEALTHFUL LOCATION AND SAFE FROM FIRE.

The proprietor is now ready to receive proposals for lots in Powning's Addition. The map gives a good idea of the tract, which is situated between the Central Pacific Railroad and the Truckee River, and commences on the west at a point three blocks distant from Virginia street, making it the most central and convenient of any portion of the rapidly growing town of Reno. Unlike any other part of the town, this addition faces the beautiful Truckee River, and Riverside Avenue is certain to become the fashionable driveway of the country. The streets are 80 feet wide, while Riverside and Keystone avenues are intended to be 100 feet in width. All alleys are 20 feet wide. The soil is a rich gravelly loam, and susceptible of the highest state of cultivation. Being situated as it is, it is more exempt from fire than any other section. The regular lots are 50x140 feet. The sewerage is perfect.

Before buying elsewhere, parties will do well to look at these lots.

PLATFORM AND RESOLUTIONS

The following platform and resolutions were adopted by the Republican State Convention, which convened at Winnemucca on the 15th instant:

The Republican Convention of Nevada, in Convention assembled, again expresses their loyalty to the principles of the Republican party, which have made this country so great and prosperous during the last quarter of a century.

Resolved, That the question of a sufficient supply of circulating medium to maintain a permanent range of the price of labor and property is the most important political question awaiting solution by the American people.

That a diminishing quantity of money reduces the price of labor and property, enriches the creditor, impoverishes the debtor, and paralyzes industry and enterprise.

That the present financial system of the United States, which increases or diminishes the circulating medium at the pleasure of the manipulators of the national banks, without regard to the increase of population or the wants of the people, and which recognizes gold alone as the standard of value, and places in the hands of the Treasury Department all the revenue of the Government to speculate with in bonds and loans to the national banks without interest, is subversive of the rights of the people, oppressive, unjust and should be repudiated.

That a financial policy whereby both gold and silver shall form the basis of circulation, whether the money used by the people be coin, or coin certificates redeemable in coin, or both, as convenience may require, is imperatively demanded.

That the attempt to substitute national bank notes, costing the Government millions of dollars annually, for free silver, is nothing more than an outrage upon the people; that the money ring or trust, which has usurped the sovereignty of the Government to issue money, and which has fraudulently demonetized silver and seized the revenues of the Government for private speculation, shocks the moral sense of the people and destroys respect for government and law. We demand that the money ring be destroyed, and equal rights be restored to all the people.

We charge that President Cleveland is the willing tool or agent of a powerful money ring, which fattens on the subsidies of the Government, makes silver, issues its paper currency at the expense of the Government, borrows the revenues raised by the people, and by the use of its power of interest, contracts the currency to enhance the value of bonds, and enriches speculators, while it depresses the price of labor and property.

That we favor the nomination of no man for President who is personally interested in national banks or the bonded indebtedness of the United States, but we demand a candidate who is free to do justice to the people of the country—the poor as well as the rich.

That the trick of the President and his advisers by which they prevented a vote in the House of Representatives on the Beck silver amendment to the Bond Purchase bill, equals the villainy of the secret and fraudulent demonetization of silver in 1873.

Resolved, That we are in favor of the protection of home industry, and that the laborer of this country have a right to all he work requires to supply the needs of the United States, and that we are in favor of high wages, and to that end will protect the wage workers from competition with the cheap labor of other lands.

Resolved, That the policy of the Government should be inaugurated and established by the people through their representatives in both houses of Congress, and not by the President or money trust, which he either as agent or head, is most active in defending.

We charge President Cleveland with violating every promise he made in favor of civil service reform, with crippling the mail service, with refusing to allow necessary bills for the improvement of rivers and harbors, with using the power of his administration to prevent appropriations for navy and coast defenses, with attempting to destroy the protective tariff, with curtailing the good will of other nations at the expense of the citizens of the United States, and with joining the foreign bondholders to demonstrate silver and destroy the industries of his own country, and for the reduction of the wages of the United States.

That we are in favor of the retention of the Carson Mine when it was not only self-sustaining but a source of revenue to the Government, for his unconstitutional veto of bills for the relief of disabled soldiers and sailors, and for failing to construct the government building at Carson as required by law.

We favor the reduction of the Treasury surplus by the payment of pensions to Union soldiers, their widows and orphans, the improvement of rivers and harbors, the building of defenses for the sea coast, the creation of public buildings, the creation of a navy, the purchase of bonds and the repeal of the lateral revenue law.

It is the duty of this State to maintain free, non-sectarian schools in the rural and mining districts, as well as in the towns and thickly populated sections, and that the division of the school money be made so as to furnish a free and equal education to all children of the State.

We are in favor of reappointing the Carson Mine for coals and raising the wages of its employees to the standard paid by the fast administration.

We demand the reorganization of the mail service in this State to the efficiency maintained by the last Republican administration, and favor the payment of fair wages to all postal employees.

We are in favor of the absolute exclusion of Chinese, and of the exclusion of immigration by which the overcharged condition of the labor market is made worse, and we favor legislation by which a restriction of our naturalization and land laws may be accomplished.

We demand in behalf of our various industries the retention of the duties on lead, borax, soda, hides and leather, and to restore the tariff of a silver coin.

Resolved, That we recognize the right of labor to organize for its lawful protection.

We favor the granting to Nevada of all Government land within the State for the purpose of providing means for irrigation and other improvements.

We favor the appropriations by Congress for hydrographical and topographical surveys in this State, to the end that the water rights may be preserved for the purpose of irrigation.

We endorse the wise and conservative administration of Governor Stevenson, and we heartily commend the able efforts of Senators Jones and Stewart and Representatives, in behalf of the interests of this State.

HIS MISTAKE.

"It's this making a fellow marry in spite of himself that I don't like. Why the deuce couldn't I be allowed the privilege of choosing for myself? Uncle George saying she mightn't fancy me is sheer nonsense."

"Oh, dear! I know I'll be gobbled up. What are you laughing at, Lu?"

"Did I laugh? I beg pardon, then. Conscience, I really wasn't aware of it. I'm such a giggler, you know."

"You say she was as homely as a stone wall the last time you saw her?"

"Well, yes; but that was when we left school, nearly four years ago. She may have grown handsomer since then."

"Not likely. I wish George would marry her himself, as he feels so deeply interested in the young orphan, as he calls her. He is only eight years my senior; but to hear him advise me, one would take him to be my grandfather."

"You are forgetting yourself, my dear Dolby. What do you suppose would ever become of you if Uncle George married her? Fan y those shapely, delicate hands earning your daily bread and butter, or the bread without?"

"For Heaven's sake, Lu, do hush!" and Mr. Adolphus Houghton sank back, quite overcome at the bare idea of earning his own bread and butter.

There was a merry twinkle in Lu Lin's clear, blue eyes, as she pretended not to notice the look of dismay that stole over the face of her easy, elegant, conceited cousin. Lu Lin continued:

"I often wonder, though, why George don't marry her. He is so handsome, so charming, but I suppose, like all you spoiled, early headed darlings, he is too hard to be sensible. Eh, Dolby?"

"No we are not hard to be spoiled, my dear Lu; but we are comparatively tender-heartedness that prevents our marrying."

"Tender-heartedness!" and Lu opened her eyes as big as two saucers.

"Of course, my dear, that is the word. Now, suppose I was bratty enough to marry—even this frightful Miss Neville—it would be the rest of your sex do? Poor dears—there isn't one of them, if their secret thoughts were made known, but expect to write herself Mrs. Adolphus Houghton, some day. So you say, my little coz, your spoiled darlin' have too much heart to disappoint so many for the sake of one."

"Well, upon my word! Did you say all that yourself, Dolby, or have my ears deceived me? I think, sir, if you had left your conceit in the city there would be nothing here of you to present to Miss Neville to day."

"Miss Neville be hanged! Always Miss Neville!" and Adolphus started up from his easy position. "Do you really believe she is coming to day, Lu?"

"Easy, my dear cousin; so much force is not one coming up to the city, if you are not more careful. Bertha Neville is surely coming to day. She ought to have been here two hours ago—we expected her by the early train."

"Oh! how I shall suffer!"

"Don't be alarmed, Dolby, I really believe she won't have you."

"Now, Lu, don't be putting false hopes into my head. I know there is no such blessing in store for me. By Jove, if I wasn't afraid of offending George, I wouldn't set her at all. I'm his heir, you say, and by the way, I don't think he'd be a bad job for me if he took it into his head to get married. There's no danger, though—not the slightest. George is just like me, you know, too sensible to be caught by the thousand one arts of your sex. But oh, how I hate your homely-as-stone women! Why, even your pink and white face is preferable to that sort of thing, Lu!"

"You go! I for nothing!"

"Quarling again, for recreation sake, I suppose," interrupted the pleasant voice of George Houghton, Dolby's handsome young uncle, as he stepped out on the balcony, followed by a tall, graceful figure.

"Oh, Bertha!" exclaimed Lu, and the next moment the graceful figure was clasped in Lu's embrace.

"How darling!" Lu exclaimed, and she kissed him. "Why didn't they tell me you were here?"

"Arrived about an hour since; you had just gone for a walk, so I thought I would surprise you, dear."

"Miss Neville," said George Houghton, as soon as the hugging process was over, "allow me to present to your notice and favor my nephew, Mr. Adolphus Houghton."

Could it be possible that this bewitching creature, with clear, pale complexion, coral lips, pearly teeth, dark, luminous eyes and jet black hair, was the frightful Miss Neville?

For the first time in his life Mr. Adolphus Houghton forgot his good manners, and stared in blank amazement.

A month has passed away, and for the life of him Dolby could not, in all that time, recover his easy, flippant air that asserted him so abundantly when first he laid eyes on Miss Neville.

He is sitting in his old position on the balcony, and has just thrown away his half smoked cigar.

Dolby can't smoke—in fact, Dolby can't do anything when alone but sit listening for the sound of a gentle footstep.

And now a light footstep sounds behind him. He does not turn his head, but his face is radiant. It is such a pleasure to be surprised!

"You don't mean it, Lu?"

"I do mean it, Dolby. She told me all about it the other day, and told me not to mention it; I wouldn't either, but for the cousinly interest I take in you. I thought it no more than right to tell you the way you could remove the bad impression you made. Only for George, she would have come home at once. It was dreadful when you come to think of it. You remember, you said, Miss Neville be hanged, and all that sort of thing."

"No wonder I did, Lu. What made you tell me she was as homely as a stone wall?"

"Well, how did I know you admired a complexion colour de crene and snapping eyes?"

"How you talk, Lu! You imagine your pink and white beauty cannot be surpassed. In comparison, my dear, you are to Miss Neville as a tallow candle is to the sun."

"He is the most perfectly beautiful woman I have ever seen, and I don't mind telling you, sir, that I am in love—hard and I heels in love, as you express it, and to show you I mean it, I will propose to Bertha Neville to-night, and I introduce you to your intended cousin-in-law in the morning."

"But supposing she wouldn't have you, Dolby?" said Lu, looking the picture of innocence.

"We will suppose nothing of the kind, Miss Linnet. You are forgetting that Bertha Neville has been in my party for two past months, and I have yet to know the woman who could refuse me after making myself agreeable that length of time, and Adolphus elevated his feet on the sofa and ran back in his chair, and I twirled him mustache in a manner that even the fastidious Lu could find no fault with."

"Ah, here they come now!" said Lu, as the carriage rolled up the avenue.

Hansome George Houghton stepped out and assisted Bertha, looking radiant and happy, to alight.

She took his arm and they ascended the steps together.

Dolby, like a dutiful nephew, scowled at his uncle.

"My dear nephew and niece—come here this instant, Lu! What are you running away for? Allow me to introduce to you your new aunt, Mrs. George Houghton."

Lu watched Dolby, from behind the pillar where she had taken shelter. His lower jaw fell; he tried to speak, but in vain.

How would Dolby's good sense justice, however, by saying his first thought was not the loss of Bertha Neville, but of his daily bread and butter.

From the moment Mr. Adolphus Houghton was introduced to his new aunt, he lost—not his self-conceit. Oh, no—but all faith in anything human.

The Veterans Association.

W. D. Sull, druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has taken relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of ten years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Belleville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my twenty years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the liver, kidneys or blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at Hodkinson and Co.'s drug store.
